Grow With Us: Join the Kentucky Forest Industries Association

For 60 years, the Kentucky Forest Industries Association (KFIA) proudly represented the voice of Kentucky's wood products industry. Our members, ranging from loggers and sawmills to manufacturers and landowners, benefit from powerful advocacy, practical support, and a thriving professional network.

Why Join KFIA?

Advocacy That Saves You Money

KFIA has secured legislation allowing primary forest products to be hauled on all state roads at licensed truck weights—saving members thousands annually.

We've reduced overweight fines and blocked costly stormwater permit fees, ensuring fair, commonsense regulation.

Insurance & Compliance Support

Partnership with Houchens Insurance Group has lowered workers' compensation rates, including a mechanized logging rate unique to Kentucky.

Direct assistance with OSHA, water and air quality, and Conservation Act enforcement helps members stay compliant and protected.

Networking & Education

Annual Conference, Wood Expo, and regional meetings connect over 350 professionals to share insights and do business.

Educational programs like the Kentucky Master Logger and wood product certification workshops elevate member expertise and marketability.

Promotion & Visibility

Partnerships with the University of Kentucky Forestry and Natural Resources and the Kentucky Division of Forestry promote forest management and industry awareness.

Our enhanced website and member directory offer valuable tools for advertising and outreach.

New for 2026: Sustainability & Market Expansion Grants

KFIA is launching a new initiative to access federal and state grants aimed at:

Sustainable forest management practices that improve long-term viability.

Workforce development to support training for young professionals entering the forestry or wood products sector.

This program strengthens Kentucky's hardwood industry while supporting rural economies and non-industrial private forest (NIPF) landowners.
